Times Changing

An SIU coed looks bemused as the hands of the clock reflect the change in women's hours from the 11:30 weeknight curfew in force before, to present plans which call for self-determined hours for junior and senior women in good standing. The question mark above blonde Noel Melchert might mirror the unsettled details of the plan which await final resolution by Dean Moulton today. See related story on Page 1. (Photo by Nathan Jones)

Chamber Hopes to Clear Air on 'Violence' Letter

By John Durbin

The Carbondale Chamber of Commerce will send three executive board members to confer with Mayor David Keene regarding its letter dealing with the recent outbreaks of violence in the city. No time was set for the meeting.

The Chamber approved a motion Thursday to undertake the action at the weekly meeting of the Board of Directors.

Prior to the noon board meeting, Keene and Councilman Randall Nelson delivered a letter dated April 17 to Chamber President William Whitson.

The mayor's letter was written in response to a letter dated April 8 he received from the Chamber. Keene felt the Chamber's letter was a direct attack on the city administration's handling of the recent disorders in the city.

Chamber President William Whitson said "it is a shame that our letter was misconstrued because we didn't mean it in that vein." Harry Weeks, director of the Chamber of Commerce, said the letter was written in the nature of "lending our (the Chamber members') support to the city administration."

Whitson said that before the letter was written he felt the mayor understood that the Chamber was backing the city government. "The letter was not written to issue criticism but rather to show that the Chamber was giving their support," Whitson said.

The Chamber President added that he and Weeks received many telephone calls from persons who had heard "vicious rumors. We can't stop rumors but we tried to dispel them," Whitson said.

Keene, in his reply to the Chamber, said the letter he received gave "the implication that law and order was being ignored." He said that any enforcement of laws would be determined by him and other city officials.

Regarding the rumors, Keene stated that "anyone could have called city hall and had them dispersed."

"We are divided," he said. "But let's not sit back and take pot shots at the city government at every opportunity."

Eaton said that he is making every effort to work with the council despite "my differences of opinion. The goals we (the council) are seeking are the same even though I do not always agree with the means of achieving them."

"Before we can reach these goals, the city needs the help and support of the residents of the community," Eaton said. Cooperation must be developed because the city council will be working until their office runs out, he said.

Eaton said "if you are not happy with a city official then you can do something about it at election time. Until then, cooperate with the officials and make this one team."

Moulton Hedges On Announcing Women's Hours

By Don Mueller

Wilbur Moulton, dean of students, declined to say whether or not the experimental changes in women's hours would be implemented tonight as announced 10 days ago.

He said he and his staff would meet today "to check some things out" before making a definite announcement about the trial abolishment of hours for qualified junior and senior women. He would not comment on just what "things" needed to be discussed to initiate the plan, however.

The new plan, signed by President Delyte W. Morris two weeks ago, calls for junior and senior women to have self-determined hours the remainder of the term provided they are in good academic and social standing and have parental consent. Several student and administration sources indicated at that time that they anticipate self-determined hours to be made permanent in fall and possibly extended to include sophomores.

Although approved by the administration and the Student Senate, some senators felt the final plan was a "sell-out" to the administration. The Senate had basically wanted self-determined hours for all sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Present hours for women are 11:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday and 12 midnight Sunday.

Although all University women's living units will participate in the experiment, operators of each off-campus living unit were to decide for themselves whether they will participate, according to Moulton.

At the Student Senate meeting Wednesday, it was announced that 327 replies had been received from women's parents with 321 in the affirmative for implementing the experiment. Moulton said yesterday he was unable to estimate the number of replies received but said they were "strongly" in favor of the experiment.

Gus Bode

Gus says his girl is not affected by women's hours. She's 72 and lives off campus.

Foreign Study Grants Open to Grad Students

Competition for the Institute of International Education grants for graduate study or research abroad will begin May 1.

Applications and a list of foreign countries participating may be obtained at the International Services Division Office, 508 S. Wall.

The grants are opened to graduate students during 1969-70 in the form of United States government scholarships under the Fulbright-Hays Act. Grants are also available for professional training in the creative and performing arts.

Candidates who wish to apply for an award must be between 20 and 25 years old, United States citizens at the time of application, and have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the date of the grant. Proficiency in the language of the host country is also preferred.

United States government grants are preferably given to candidates who have not had prior experience abroad, with exception to those who have served in the armed forces. A bachelor's degree is not required for creative and performing artists, although they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience.

Applicants in social work must have at least two years of professional experience after the master's degree. Those in the field of medicine are required to have an M.D. at the time of application.

United States full grants and government travel grants are also available through the IIE.

Under these programs more than 950 American graduate students will have an opportunity to study in any one of 50 countries.

City Hall, Chamber Split

Eaton Urges Cooperation

Carbondale Councilman William Eaton urged the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday to use their influence to bring together the division which has been created in the city.

Eaton, speaking at the board's weekly meeting, said that something needs to be done about the "friction created between City Hall and the Chamber of Commerce."

Theory May Help Future Engineers

"Nonlinear Stress-Strain Relation," a paper by William C. Orthwein, professor in charge of solid mechanics in the School of Technology, has been published in the March issue of the International Journal of Solids and Structures.

Study of stress-strain theory is useful in predicting the deformation of an object under a load. Information in Orthwein's paper may help engineers of the future to predict such phenomena as the damage to a car on impact and the crush depth of submarines.

Voyagers Reunite in Norway Tuesday

A band of scientific, seafaring Norsemen will reunite in Oslo Tuesday to celebrate the 30th anniversary of their return from a fact-finding expedition to the desolate South Atlantic island of Tristan da Cunha.

Among them will be Peter Munch, SIU sociologist who produced the definitive work on the islanders' unique society as a result of the 1937-38 trip. His book, "The Sociology of Tristan da Cunha," will be included in a specially printed leather bound set of five volumes representing the expedition's results which is scheduled to be presented to King Olaf of Norway at the reunion.

Munch and the only other member of the team now living in the U.S., UCLA School of Dentistry Dean Reidar Sognaes, will be flown to the reunion courtesy of Scandinavian Airlines, Erling Christoper, head of the original expedition, will preside.

Munch, who came to SIU in 1957, has seen the Tristans twice since 1937-38. In 1961, a volcanic eruption forced the 270 residents to leave their 45-mile square island for resettlement in England. Munch spent the summer of 1962 living with them at an abandoned airbase to study the effects of civilization on them.

Munch found that they adjusted quickly to 20th century civilization, but soon became aware that the British wanted to make the resettlement permanent. The closely-knit Tristans, afraid that their culture would be dissolved by continued exposure to industrial society, decided almost to a man to go back to their rocky, remote island.

Munch revisited them. The Tristans, he said, were once again comfortable among themselves, trying to restore their meager potato, chicken and lobster-fishing economy, while restoring the principles of the island's founding.

April 29 Slated as Opening For Swimming in Campus Lake

April 29 is being considered as the tentative date for the opening of the swimming area at Lake-on-the-Campus.

Robert Plucinsky, graduate assistant supervisor, said that the opening date may be postponed to May 1 depending upon the amount of bacterial life in the water.

"If the algae is too bad, we will wait until the water gets warm enough for chemical treatment to destroy the algae growth."

Plucinsky said the swimming area will be enlarged this year by extending the roped-in area northward from the raft.

Some of the regulations that apply to the swimming area are:

1. All persons must have a University identification card. Any person not having one will be asked to leave.
2. Swimming is permitted only in the beach area at designated times when lifeguards are on duty.

3. Parents must take complete responsibility for their children, regardless of age.

4. No inner tubes, floating objects, or other equipment are permitted on the lake.

When the beach opens, hours will be from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

It Takes Partnership

A Model City program will be valuable in improving the substandard living conditions existing in Carbondale, if approved by the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

An application has been sanctioned by the City Council. Similar to that turned down by the federal government last year, it calls for a program costing approximately $106,000, with federal funds providing 80 per cent of the project's cost.

This application calls attention to the problems in the Model City neighborhood in Carbondale, an area bounded by the Illinois Central Railroad tracks on the west, Main Street on the south and the city limits on both the east and north.

Data is presented to indicate "that poor housing conditions, poverty, unemployment, low educational levels, dependence on welfare payments, crime and delinquency prevail here to a much higher degree than in the rest of the community." Such conditions are unwanted in Carbondale. A planning grant would help abolish these circumstances—thus raising the standards of living in this area.

The first step in the proposed Model City Program would involve establishment of a temporary neighborhood residents' committee composed of members of each group in the area.

In addition, other persons from the area would be elected to serve with the organizational representatives on the Model Neighborhood Planning and Policy Committee. As a result, more people would participate in the program and learn what must be done to further improve the standard of living in this section of the community.

This committee will coordinate activities in personal and community development, careers and employment opportunities, a year-round Head Start Program, a public education program, a consumer health education program, a housing and relocation program, a central library for multiple problem families and community relations programs for law enforcement agencies.

If the Committee is successful, the living conditions will be improved to a great extent in this area—making Carbondale a much better place to live.

The City Council has initiated the first step in solving the problem of substandard living conditions existing in Carbondale. Now the final result rests with the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

However, if Carbondale's application is approved, the people in the Model City neighborhood should unite and do everything possible to improve the existing conditions of housing, poverty, unemployment, substandard educational opportunities, crime and delinquency.

The Model City planning grant can only go so far. The final result of this plan rests with how well the people of this area work together to raise the substandard living conditions.

Daley's Order
Frightening

Richard J. Daley's directive for police to use ultimate force if necessary is frightening.

The Chicago mayor may be right in his attitude to maintain law and order at any cost, but if he sincerely believes that violence or looting can be stopped by threats alone, he is apt to find this to be the most disastrous summer in Chicago's history.

What is even more disheartening is the language being used by those who support the literal meaning of his directive more than they do with its intent.

We cannot imagine a policeman that is both experienced enough and wise enough to be left with the decision of whether a particular looter or person who resists arrest should be gunned down in the street without a trial.

Perhaps the statement alone is not bad in itself, but if one Chicago policeman deems it necessary to shoot a looter, the person most responsible for the consequences is Richard J. Daley.

'What A Difference a Day Makes' — At Least When It Comes to Girl's Hours

Berlin, Much Like Berkeley

The University of Berlin's New Left hardly shares the reputed German proclivity for order. Indeed, the student rioting after the shooting of Rudi Dutschke, one of its favorite activists, is fresh evidence of how much it has in common with the Berkeley New Left, including a vociferous vagueness of purpose.

Both groups follow the same prophets. Their rebellion is one of generation against generation. They and their kind elsewhere are set on edge by the preference of their elders for unexamined peace, quiet and prosperity.

So the Berlin students have made a target of Axel Springer, the press lord who also is a source of concern for less volatile citizens. Disdainful of the intellectual, he built the big circulation of his papers and magazines on the piquant, the gossipy and the folksy, on intriguing features rather than solid content. And as an ardent anti-Communist, he defiantly put up his Berlin plant next to the East German wall.

In quite different ways the students and Springer are symptoms of a frustrated community. Once a cosmopolitan center, Berlin is becoming a city without a purpose. Surrounded by an artificial Soviet satellite, it is only symbolically a West German state. Authority is vested in the four occupying powers, divided long ago by the cold war. Although spectacularly rebuilt as "the show-window of the West" this has not, in the long run, offset its isolation.

Berlin is becoming a city of the elderly. Most of its young seek careers in more assured settings. Workers are attracted to its industries by bonus salaries, and leave after acquiring a "nest egg." So a Berliner has the morose feeling of being sidetracked.

Such a city may well become a forcing-bed for youthful unrest. Yet the grievances of the Berlin students are not merely parochial. They too, could move away. The notions and manners they have in common with the Berkeley activists and all other of the breed are evidence enough of the fundamental generational mistrust, the failure of understanding and communication between them and their elders.

Letter

Light in Death

To the Daily Egyptian:

The tragic and pointless murder of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has dealt the people of this nation and people of all nations a heavy blow.

We have lost a great man, a man of wisdom and integrity, of love and vision, of conscience and honor.

A man who understood only too clearly the price of human dignity. In one of his last fundraising letters Dr. King wrote: "We are taking action after sober reflection. We have learned from bitter experience that our government does not correct a race problem until it is confronted directly and dramatically."

A time will come for recriminations and analysis, politics and sociology, cause and effect, a time to speculate what people and organizations will do now and later. But that time is not now.

A great man has been killed. We can only hope that people will see in his death what they apparently could not see in his life.

Charles Thompson

'Stop the World—I Want To Get Off'

Axel Springer And West Berlin's 'Long-Haired Pinkoes'

By Antero Pietila

Of course they were outraged by the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. Of course they were against the U.S. involvement in Vietnam and against so many other things too.

So last week the nearly-professional student demonstrators of West Berlin were marching again and waving the pictures of Rosa Luxemburg (a Socialist who was murdered in Berlin in 1919) and "Uncle" Ho Chi Minh.

What happened then, we already know. Rudi Dutschke, the 28-year-old "enfant terrible" of the German student-left was shot and wounded by Joseph Bachmann, a 23-year-old house painter who "slept under Hitler's portrait" as we are told. This act of violence was followed by demonstrations that climaxed in burning delivery trucks of the German press czar, Axel Caesar Springer.

One of the questions a foreigner in this country frequently hears is why people abroad resent American involvement in their affairs. At the same time, they take the liberty of criticising America's own business. This writer has tried to give his share of answers, but the best reply thus far has come from an American student here.

He had done his military service with the U.S. forces stationed in Germany. He and his wife had learned some German, and had begun mixing with young German couples. Now this student suggested that one basic reason to what seems to be an disproportionately strong interest in international rather than domestic affairs is the frustrating feeling that their voice is not heard in the decision-making process.

This of course would partly explain the enormous popularity of John F. Kennedy; why he still tops the popularity polls taken among the youth from Sweden to Poland and Spain. He was a young man with youthful idealism and ideas.

A few years ago Willy Brandt was able to appeal to German students who wanted to believe in democracy built in the ruins of totalitarianism. Many of the elderly people then criticized Brandt for the very reason some of the youth admired him. Brandt had actively campaigned against Hitler (or against Germany, as his critics cry) during the war.

Willy Brandt was only his pseudonym under which he published some 10 books in Norwegian and Swedish (his real name was Herbert Karl Frahm). When he returned to Germany in 1946 he was a Norwegian citizen and press attache in the Norwegian military mission.

Brandt wanted, however, to be "rather the only democrat in Germany than one among a crowd in Norway" and reapplied for German citizenship. He was elected to the Federal Parliament in 1949 and became the mayor of West Berlin in 1957. It was in the cold war in Berlin that this energetic square-faced man rose to fame and eventually became the "whiz kid" of the anti-communist Social Democratic Party (SDP).

Today Brandt is the foreign minister of West Germany and is more popular among older people than the youth, who object to the SDP coalition cabinet with the conservative Christian Democratic Union. They feel that the SDP has compromised with the establishment and thus they are without a constructive political organization now.

Subsequently, their militancy is growing and they are in danger of alienating from the democratic decision making process. They hate to see many of the same men who held high positions or were silent during the Hitler era now again in high positions; this is against their principles and they don't believe that those old authoritarian bureaucrats might have changed their philosophies.

So when they have been attacking the Axel Springer publishing empire during the past two weeks they have been attacking everything it represents: bigness, power, internal authoritarianism, monopolism, conventional compromising conservatism.

If Willy Brandt's story is a story of a fighter of firm conviction, Axel Springer's is ana monopoly in pocket book markets. Of course he also owns some paper mills, a news and photo service and a travel agency.

Axel Springer is a conservative and has grown more so with years. And this also happens to be the course his papers have followed as exemplified by his "Die Welt" (The World), a Hamburg-based quality paper.

The most powerful of Springer's newspapers is "Bild" (Pix), a boulevard sheet that makes the best of its simplified German, uses striking headlines (that seldom have anything to do with the day's news) and effective pictures (often retouched) and tells almost every flight from East Germany in a story boxed by barbed wire column rules.

"Bild" is the largest daily in continental Europe (its weekly circulation exceeds a million copies more than the two million-plus of the New York Daily News, the largest U.S. daily). It is printed simultaneously in eight German cities. Until recently editorial content in each regional edition was somewhat identical but now the "Bild" is adding strong local touch in order to compete with local papers. So the publishers of the Munich dailies had to run the following ad lately: "Wouldn't you rather have a real newspaper than an illiterate one?"

Axel Springer is said to be the most powerful person in Germany since Adolf Hitler. He has said, "I will reunite Germany whether she believes it or not." And a visitor to the Springer headquarters in Berlin or Hamburg is welcomed by a huge slogan running over the map of the Germanies: "Germany—divided? Never!"

This then is the man who has directed his ire at the German student left. And in Berlin's American-sponsored Free University, a haven of intellectual dissent, he has found suitable targets.

When the Berlin students staged huge and violent demonstrations against the visit paid to the city by the Shah of Iran last year the Springer-owned "Morgenpost" cried, "Free University Students Make Bombs of Peking Explosives." And the Springer press has demanded that the "rowdies" and "long-haired pinkoes" should be treated as public enemies.

"In any other Western country a student revolt of the proportions of the one that has rocked West Berlin and West Germany would be dismissed as just one more manifestation of the generation gap. But Germany's Nazi past and the exposed position of the Federal Republic and West Berlin greatly intensify the concern felt inside Germany and around the world," the New York Times wrote editorially this week.

Meanwhile, Rudi Dutschke and Joseph Bachmann were recovering from bullet wounds, in the same Berlin hospital. Both were as uncompromising as ever, convinced of the righteousness of their cause, both bitter toward the society they are living in.

other kind of a success story, more typical of the postwar German society.

When the war ended Axel Springer found the only asset he had was his stainless past. He got a job with Radio Hamburg, "a station of the Military Government" and soon obtained hard-to-get publishing license for a radio program guide.

The concentration of newspaper ownership has caused growing concern in many countries. Chains today own 50 per cent or more of daily newspapers in 21 U.S. states, which led Dr. Bryce Rucker of SIU to make this warning in a testimony to the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, "At the present rate of expansion, all of the daily newspapers in the United States will be owned by chains within 20 years and all of the Sunday newspapers will be chain owned in 13 years."

In Germany it is Axel Springer who today happens to own and control 40 per cent of the German daily press. The total circulation of what the Germans call 1,200 "daily newspaper titles" last year was 21,059,300. The circulation of the 45 largest newspapers was 15.3 million copies of which Springer's share was 8.5 million. But in addition to some of the major newspapers in his country, Springer also owns such collector's items as the Bavarian "Freyunger Waldpost" with a paid circulation of 693.

Axel Springer's empire is not limited to newspapers. His magazines have a circulation of 7.6 million (trade journals are not included) and he has practically

Angelaire's Asked to Record For National Finance Project

The Angelaire's, singing members of Angel Flight at SIU, have been requested by their national organization to cut a long-playing stereo album as a national money-making project.

Following two appearances of the group before audiences of 2,000 at an Arnold Air Society national conclave, a motion proposed by the Angel Flight commander at Southern Methodist University concerning the Angelaire's album was passed unanimously.

Capt. Henry Staley, faculty adviser for Angel Flight, associated with the Air Force ROTC program, said the singers received standing ovations at both appearances.

During a program of eight numbers April 8 at the Statler-Hilton, the 2,000 in attendance stood up and applauded after the third selection "Up, Up, and Away," and the last song, "Air Force Medley," arranged and directed by Charles C. Taylor, associate professor of music. Vangie Griffin, Angel Flight member from Zion, Ill., also directed numbers.

Staley said as a result of the response, the conclave chairman invited the girls to stage a special performance at the April 9 Awards Banquet attended by General John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff.

LITTLE CAESAR'S

Manhunt Under Way For Elusive Eric Galt

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The FBI pressed one of the most massive manhunts in its history Thursday for shadowy Eric Starvo Galt, charged in the sniper slaying of Martin Luther King Jr.

But little more was known publicly about the alleged assassin of the civil rights leader than when his name first arose a week ago. It was learned, however, that a man registered as Eric S. Galt in a Memphis motel a day before King was killed.

Police agencies continued their "no comment" handling of queries — including questions about a newspaper report that the search had spread outside the country, to Mexico or Cuba. And they were silent on any details at all about a man with whom Galt may have conspired in the slaying.

A murder warrant was issued here Wednesday night for the 36-year-old Galt, five hours after the FBI charged him with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of King. The FBI warrant charged him with conspiring with a man "whom he alleged to be his brother."

King was killed by a single bullet the night of April 4 as he leaned over the second-floor railing of a Memphis motel. Police have said the shot was fired from the common bathroom of a low-cost hotel across the street.

The FBI said Galt had used the names of Harvey Lowmyer and John Willard. A man registered as "John Willard" checked into the hotel just three hours before King was killed.

Ivan B. Webb, night desk clerk at the Rebel Motel here, said a man registered there under the name of Eric S. Galt on April 3. Webb said a white Mustang bearing Alabama license plates and Mexican tourist stickers was parked near the room occupied by Galt. A similar car has been impounded in Atlanta, Ga., and the FBI said that car belonged to Galt. A white Mustang is believed to have been the getaway car after the slaying.

The FBI declined comment on the possibility that a man who had checked into another motel April 3 might have been Galt's brother.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark described Galt Wednesday night as white, a neat dresser, of apparently limited education and a man with a taste for vodka and beer.

He also was described as an avid dancer with a liking for country and western music.

Police recovered a 30.06 Remington rifle with telescopic sight soon after King was killed. The weapon had been abandoned in a doorway near the scene of the shooting.

The Birmingham News said in a copy-righted story Thursday that a gun which the FBI said had been purchased in that city had been identified in ballistics tests as the 30.06 rifle which killed King.

The newspaper also said the search for Galt has spread outside the United States.

2 Deaths Ruled Accidents

The death of Kathy Trunk, an SIU student, was ruled accidental by a Jackson County coroner's jury Thursday night.

Miss Trunk, 18, from East Peoria, was fatally injured on April 7 when the car she was riding in ran off the Crab Orchard Lake Road, went down an embankment and hit a tree.

According to testimony by an Illinois state trooper, the driver of the auto, Robert L. Davenport, an SIU student from Harrisburg, will be charged with reckless driving.

A passenger in Davenport's car, John Sill, a freshman from Niles, will be charged with a curfew violation, the trooper said.

In a hearing held Wednesday, the coroner's jury ruled the death of David R. Caldwell, a student from Melrose Park, as accidental.

Caldwell, 18, was killed in an accident on the New Era Road west of Carbondale on April 8 while a passenger in a car driven by James J. Cothern, 19, of Vandalia.

Warsaw Appears Out

LBJ Firm on Talk Sites

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson said Thursday preliminary talks with North Vietnam must be at a site where other governments involved in the Vietnam war can have representatives—which seemed to rule out Warsaw.

The chief executive listed this among four requirements for the discussions to determine whether serious peace negotiations can begin. The other three conditions are similar to those set forth before by the United States. Hanoi and Washington have been jockeying for more than two weeks in so far fruitless efforts for a site. North Vietnam has suggested Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, or Warsaw, capital of Communist Poland.

Washington objected to Phnom Penh because there is no U.S. diplomatic mission there. It balked at Warsaw because it is not a neutral nation.

Johnson's announcement seemed virtually to slam the door on Warsaw because the two principal U.S. fighting allies, South Vietnam and South Korea, are not recognized diplomatically by Poland and have no envoys in its capital.

In addition to the condition having to do with South Vietnamese and South Korean contacts, Johnson reiterated that there must be adequate and secure official communications systems; access for news coverage; and that the site must be one in which neither side would enjoy a psychological or propaganda advantage.

While objecting to the only two sites suggested so far by Hanoi, Washington has advanced a half dozen potential sites it would find acceptable.

Thursday, Secretary of State Dean Rusk broadened this list to 15, including several added starters in Asia.

In a Washington news conference, Rusk told reporters that Ceylon, Japan, Afghanistan, Pakistan, Nepal or Malaysia would be acceptable. They joined the earlier Asian list of Laos, India, Burma and Indonesia.

As added European suggestions, he advanced Italy, Belgium, Finland or Austria.

In announcing expansion of the list, Rusk noted that there has been no official response from North Vietnam—although there have been semiofficial rejections via the government radio—and said it is "time for a serious and responsive answers from Hanoi."

'Poor' to March As King Wanted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A summer Poor People's Campaign in Washington was outlined Thursday as a four-part program of pressure to get congressional action against poverty.

Leaders said it would be conducted just as Martin Luther King Jr., had planned it.

Announced at a news conference, the campaign will start April 29 with some talks in Washington and will culminate with what was described as a crusade of hundreds of thousands of demonstrators.

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, successor to King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the first efforts to get congressional action on jobs or money for the poor will come from 100 leaders who will meet with government figures in Washington.

That being unsuccessful, the first marchers will leave May 2 from Memphis where King was killed two weeks ago. Several thousand are expected in this march, which will begin with a memorial service on the balcony where King was shot down, Abernathy said.

Later, at a time determined by events, he said, three more lines of marchers will set out with mule trains—one each from Mississippi, Boston and Chicago.

About 1,000 people are expected in each of those marches, Abernathy explained, and all will converge on Washington simultaneously.

Survey Discovers

Mortgage Rates on Upward Swing in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Interest rates on new home mortgages are climbing toward 8 per cent in some sections of the country, a nationwide survey shows.

And the cost of an average home has climbed about $2,500 in the past two years, according to an AP survey.

Despite the higher costs, the nation's homebuilders expect this to be a good year. Probably, they point out, because people realize prices and interest rates may go even higher.

The industry looks for 1968 to be better than last year. The National Association of Home Builders predicts 1.43 million housing starts this year, up from 1.3 last year.

But whatever the number of homes built, home buyers will pay more for their mortgage. The chances that mortgages will cost more were increased again Thursday when the Federal Reserve Board in Washington approved another increase in the discount rate.

Bell Walkout Not Halting Phone Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 165,000 telephone workers walked out in a wage dispute Thursday in their first nationwide strike in 21 years, but there appeared little initial interruption of phone service.

Management officials said there might be some initial problems with person-to-person long-distance calls and other services requiring an operator's assistance.

Most heavily affected immediately will be orders for new phones and transfers of phones because the strikers include 25,000 telephone installers who work for the Bell manufacturing subsidiary, Western Electric Co.

The telephone installers unit of the union is on strike in about 40 states. In addition, strikers include Bell system switchboard operators, repairmen, testers, linemen, clerks and other workers in 15 states and the District of Columbia.

Other Bell System contracts covering another 116,000 Communications Workers in 16 additional states expire at various times within the next few weeks.

The union has rejected company pay increase offers of 7.5 per cent over 18 months. Bell officials said the union is demanding 10.5 per cent. Installers now average $3.27 per hour and other telephone workers $4.79 hourly.

Work Study Applicants

Students Asked to File Statement

Students who will be working on campus during the summer quarter of this school year or any time during the 1968-69 school year and who wish to qualify for the Federal Work-Study Program should fill out a new ACT Financial Statement form now available at the Student Work and Financial Assistance office.

The Federal government requires that a new family financial statement be filed each year by those students who wish to benefit from student work or financial assistance which is underwritten in part by the government.

Each student worker's family must complete the form and send it with a $1.50 processing fee to the American College Testing Program at Iowa City, Iowa, in order to be considered for the Federal Work Program after June 30.

All students who fail to complete new forms during this quarter will be removed from the Federal Program.

The ACT Financial Report will also provide information required of those seeking either a National Defense Student Loan or an Educational Opportunity Grant.

Petition Seeks to Rename Building

A petition for the renaming of General Classrooms Building in honor of the late Martin Luther King Jr. will be presented to the Board of Trustees today in a meeting.

Grover Randle, a spokesman for concerned black students, said 2,000 signatures were sought. The petition was first circulated Tuesday afternoon and by Wednesday evening, 900 signatures had been counted.

"The way things look, I think it will get off the ground," Randle said. "We definitely want it to be official."

Daniel Thomas announced the circulation of the petition at the Student Senate meeting Wednesday night and was reported saying that the building will be considered renamed by the signers of the petition, regardless of Board action. Randle said, if the Board does not honor the petition, students will support Thomas' statement.

Recreation Specialists to Meet For Institute on Day Camps

City recreation specialists from throughout the U.S. will gather at SIU's Outdoor Laboratory April 28 for the sixth annual Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation Institute on day camp programs for mentally retarded children.

William Freeburg, associate professor of recreation and Institute director, said some 50 trainees will spend a week at the laboratory on Little Grassy Lake, learning how to set up camps that combine games, fitness and instruction.

This year's Institute is sponsored by a $19,700 grant from the U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare. Most of the trainees are from cities which have been allotted Kennedy Foundation grants to support summer day camps for the retarded.

The trainees will visit the A.L. Bowen Children's Center in Harrisburg, a state school for the mentally retarded, and as a "final examination" will conduct a day-long camp program at the laboratory for 30 Bowen children.

SIU has conducted summer camp programs for handicapped children since the early 1950's. The Kennedy Foundation in 1963 selected the Outdoor Laboratory campsite as national training headquarters for its day camp leaders.

'Wild Strawberries' to Be Shown

4 Festival Films Scheduled

Ingmar Bergman's "Wild Strawberries" will be among four films presented by SIU's Activities Programming Board during the 1968 Spring Film Festival, May 4 and May 11.

Tickets covering the cost of all the films may be purchased, for $1.50 beginning Monday. Those wishing to attend one night of films may buy tickets for $1 starting April 29. The films will be shown in Furr Auditorium. All tickets will be sold at the University Center Information Desk.

"Wild Strawberries," the story of a doctor confronted by haunting dreams and memories, and Francois Truffaut's "Jules and Jim" will be shown May 4. "Jules and Jim," starring Jeane Moreau and Oskar Werner, brought fame to Truffaut as the leader of French New Wave directors. The film, considered his greatest work, tells of a beautiful girl who must die for her love of two fraternal friends.

Two additional films will be included in the May 11 program. "L'Avventura," by Michelangelo Antonioni, who is noted for his movie, "Blow-Up," reveals the story of Italy's idle rich. This film is rated by international film critics as the second greatest film of all time.

The second movie will be the "Award Winning Experimental Films of the 1966 National Student Film Festival," a series of eight films acted, directed and produced by students.

Flying Salukis Preparing For Intercollegiate Meet

The "Flying Salukis" will be aiming for the National Collegiate Championship when they compete in the 20th Annual National Intercollegiate Flying Meet at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio.

The meet, scheduled May 11, 12 and 13, will consist of four events. The first will be the navigation contest, in which each team will fly a short cross-country course. The winner will be the one who comes closest to his original flying time and fuel estimate.

Ron Kelly, who founded the SIU club in 1961 and is its adviser, said the team should fare much better since the Salukis are not hosting the meet as they did last year. "The hosting of the meet took up a great deal of practice time and this hurt us considerably," Kelly said.

The second event is the power-off spot landing, consisting of coming in to land with power and then "touching down" as close as possible to a spot marked on the runway.

The third event is the power-off spot landing. It consists of cutting off the power on the final approach to the runway and gliding the plane to the runway, landing as close as possible to a marker, Kelly said.

The last event is the "bomb-dropping" event and involves a plane traveling at a minimum speed of 100 m.p.h. and at a minimum altitude of 200 feet and then dropping a two-pound sack of sand into a 50-gallon barrel.

According to Kelly, every competing school is eligible to enter five contestants in each of the four events. He said there will be approximately 35 to 40 schools competing.

A board of judges, made up of FAA representatives, scores these events according to a 10-8-6-4-2 scale for first through fifth places. The total points accumulated by a team determine its final standing, Kelly said.

Trophies are presented to the top five teams and individual awards are presented to the outstanding man and woman pilot of the year, he said.

On April 28, SIU will host a dual meet with Parks College from East St. Louis. This event will determine who will be chosen to represent SIU at Athens for national competition.

"Regardless of who competes or who wins, other than the love of flying, the objectives are safety, skill, and good sportsmanship," Kelly said.

Women May Try Out For SIU Track Club

Several SIU coeds are adding spiked shoes to their wardrobes again as the women's track club enters into its second year of competition.

The track club sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association is coached by Miss Sally Davidson, physical education instructor.

The women participate in all field and track events. They include shot put, discus, javelin, high jump, long jump, and all track events. Pole vaulting is excluded because of the possibility of injury.

Miss Davidson has scheduled four meets for the second year of existence for the SIU club. The Salukis will travel to University of Illinois on April 27, to Murray State on May 11, and to Illinois State on May 18. The only home meet scheduled, the SIU Invitational, will be held on May 25. Seven teams have been invited to participate.

Two members returned from last year's squad. Beth Stout, a sophomore from Albuquerque, N. M., was the holder of the national high school discus record until it was broken recently. Pat Gee, another native Albuquerque resident, was undefeated in the 400 dash last year.

Girls interested in trying out for the squad should report to the east side of the stadium any afternoon except Friday between 5 and 6 p.m.

Salukis Face Ohio State in 4 Games

SIU's baseball team returns to action after a three-day layoff, as the Salukis challenge fifth-ranked Ohio State in double headers today and Saturday on the SIU diamond.

The Buckeyes are the fourth nationally-ranked team SIU has faced this year. SIU won one and lost two to top-ranked Arizona State and lost three games to Florida State which was then ranked No. 5. Against third place Arizona, the Salukis won two out of four games.

The Salukis have won their last six games, all of them at home, hiking their record to 15-10. Their latest victory was a 5-1 win over MacMurry last Monday.

The Buckeyes were the NCAA champions in 1966 and runnersup in 1965. Last year they lost in the finals, after winning the regional tournament at SIU.

Ohio State, which has compiled a 9-9 record, boasts a strong pitching staff. Joe Sadelfeld and Mike Swain top the experienced pitching crew.

Sadelfeld, a junior southpaw, has a 3-2 record to date and will pitch the opening game for the Buckeyes.

Swain, also a member of the Ohio State basketball team, beat the Salukis 5-4 and 12-0 in 1967. The righthander pitched a one-hitter his last time out against Pittsburg in his only decision to date.

Ken Irvin, a junior left-hander with a 2-1 record, will pitch one of the Saturday contests for the Buckeyes. Dick Boggs is slated to be the other Friday pitcher. Boggs is 2-2 for the season and lost 7-5 to SIU in relief last year.

SIU Coach Joe Lutz intends to send Howard Nickason (2-2) and Jerry Paetzhold (3-2) to the mound on Friday. John Susce (5-0) and Skip Pitlock (2-1) will represent the Salukis on the mound Saturday.

Susce, who has developed into the ace of the staff, has pitched 42 innings for the Salukis and has been charged with only four earned runs for a 0.86 earned run average.

Soccer Club to Play EIU Sunday

SIU's International Soccer Club will begin its season Sunday afternoon at Eastern Illinois University.

Eastern Illinois is one of the stronger members of the Mid-West Soccer Conference and has an impressive list of victories over St. Louis University, Michigan State and Indiana.

The club has recently been strengthened by the arrival of two new men. Peter Lewin of Jamaica will join the club and play on the left wing while Peter Moss of England will play on the right half. Both men have previous soccer experience.

Coached by Dickie Coke, the team will meet Murray State University here on April 27.

Eastern Illinois will visit Carbondale on May 5 for a rematch. The next three meets will be on the road with the University of Illinois, Chicago on May 11; Murray State University, May 18; and Indiana State University, May 25. SIU will meet Indiana

State University for its last contest on June 1.

Matches with the following teams have been confirmed for the fall: Indiana State (2), St. Louis University, University of Illinois, Chicago, and the University of Illinois, Champaign.

Schedule Tentative

SIU Invited to Appear In Major Cage Classic

By George Knemeyer

An appearance in the Volunteer Christmas Classic heads SIU's tentative 1968-69 basketball schedule, according to an informed source in the Athletic Department.

Probable opponents for SIU in the Classic are the University of Tennessee, University of Texas and University of Oklahoma.

Other major college teams listed on the schedule are Southern Methodist, Texas at El Paso, Tulsa, St. Louis, Wichita State and Kansas State. Long Island, Kentucky Wesleyan and Evansville are small college teams appearing on the schedule.

The appearance in the tournament, and all other games, are still subject to final approval by the SIU Athletic Committee. Its decision on the schedule is expected to come late this quarter, or by early June.

The Classic, one of the year's top holiday tournaments in the nation, is sponsored by the University of Tennessee and held at Knoxville.

Tennessee, last year's tournament winner, was one of the top 10 teams in the nation and finished with a 20-6 record.

Oklahoma, a Big Eight school, finished its season with a 13-13 record while Texas, a member of the Southwestern Conference, was 11-13. SIU finished with a 13-11 mark.

The past two years, the Salukis have played in the Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex., during Christmas breaks.

Two years ago in the tournament, SIU faced the University of Texas at El Paso (then Texas Western), and Southern Methodist University. Both will play at the SIU Arena next season.

In the only meeting with the two Texas schools, SIU defeated Texas at El Paso, 59-54, in the 1966 Carnival but lost to Southern Methodist, 66-64. El Paso was ranked in the top 10 at the time of its defeat.

Last year, El Paso, an independent, finished the season at 14-9, while Southern Methodist finished last in the Southwestern Conference with a 6-18 slate.

Two Missouri Valley Conference teams which have never appeared at the Arena, the University of Tulsa and St. Louis University, are also scheduled to play here.

St. Louis, which has played SIU twice in Kiel Auditorium, defeated the Salukis last year by 11 points. The previous year, SIU downed St. Louis by 10. The Billikens finished fifth in the Missouri Valley Conference with a 15-11 record overall.

SIU has met Tulsa only once, 12 years ago, when the Golden Hurricanes won. Tulsa finished seventh in the Missouri Valley last season with an 11-12 record. SIU will also play a second game at Tulsa.

Rounding out SIU's Missouri Valley opponents is Wichita State, which fell to SIU last season in a regionally televised game. Overall, Southern is 3-2 against the Kansas team. The Wichita Shockers finished sixth in the MVC with a season record of 12-14.

SIU will travel to Manhattan, Kan., to play the Kansas State Wildcats. The Wildcats won the Big Eight last season with a 19-9 record, and defeated SIU by one point in the Arena. Southern had previously lost to Kansas State in 1965.

Also scheduled for an appearance in the Arena is Long Island University, last season's top-ranked college division team. Long Island finished its season with a 22-2 mark, its only losses coming to St. Peter's of New Jersey in the regular season finale and to Notre Dame in the National Invitational Tournament. Long Island lost the Notre Dame contest by two points.

Long Island was the second top-ranked college division team in as many years to make a bid for the NIT title. SIU won the tournament in 1967 when it was classified as a small college.

SIU will also keep its rivalries with Kentucky Wesleyan and Evansville alive next year with home and away games. The Salukis split two games with each of the two small college powers last season.

Wesleyan won the NCAA Small College Championship with a 29-3 record last year, while Evansville, knocked out in the quarter finals, finished at 21-8.

Southern is also trying to negotiate an appearance in Chicago Stadium on February 8 against a Big 10 school, or a major independent, according to the source.

Notre Dame, which makes frequent appearances in Chicago, had been thought to be a possible opponent, but Notre Dame officials say the school schedule is complete and does not include SIU.

The Salukis lost to Michigan State last season in Chicago by 12 points.

Southern is expected to play 12 home games, its usual number, in its tentative 23 game schedule.

The source was unable to release any other dates or opponents for the tentative schedule.
